Cesarean Section for All Twins?

November 01, 2011
By Isaac Blickstein, MD [1]

According to B. Russell’s “bad luck” mathematical paradox, a decision is bound to be false if based on the probability of success of another decision. Thus, a decision to perform a cesarean section (CS) based on the probability of a successful vaginal delivery (VD) is likely to be wrong.

References:

Source URL: http://www.diagnosticimaging.com/articles/cesarean-section-all-twins

Links: